Comprehension questions + extractions

During his journey Graham learnt how hospitable people can be. One time when he was travelling on a night bus in Iran, he saw an old woman who was talking on her phone. She handed it to him.

It was the woman's grandson. 'My grandmother's worried because the bus arrives very early,' he explained in English. 'She wants to invite you home to make you breakfast.' Graham accepted the invitation.

Finally, after three years, ten months and twenty-one days Graham arrived in the 21 and final country on his odyssey. It was South Sudan, the newest state in the world, a country that didn't even exist when he started his journey.

Why did the old woman on the night bus hand Graham her phone? *

1 point

- ☐ She wanted him to speak to her grandson.

What do I like about my job? Well, the money isn't bad. I also enjoy the variety of being a mystery shopper – it's not always as enjoyable as the trip to Berlin but it's never boring. And finally, I sometimes go back to a shop I visited before. It's always great to see the service is better because then I know that my job is making a difference.

The job isn't perfect, of course. Some companies don't pay you (you just get a discount on something you 'bought'). And sometimes there is no work for many weeks. Mystery shopping is a good way to earn extra money but it's not enough to live on.

What are two challenges mentioned about being a mystery shopper? *

1 point

- ☐ You might only get a discount on the items you "bought." there are times when no assignments are available for weeks.
- ☐ You might only get a salary. There are times when assignments are hard to complete.

What does he appreciate when he returns to a shop he visited before? *

1 point

- ☐ it's boring to see improved service and know that my work has made a negative impact.
- ☐ it's rewarding to see improved service and know that my work has made a positive impact.
- ☐ it's rewarding to see improved service and know that my work has made a negative impact.
